- suitable for cross-slot screws according to the Japanese industrial standard (JIS)
- these special screw heads have different dimensions and angles than a PH screw
- a standard PH screwdriver will wind out of the screw head if too much torque is applied
- suitable for screw connections on Japanese products as well as for vehicle and motorcycles
- special handles maximize the torque from the hand to the screw
- with cross hole for hanging
- magnetized tips
- anti-slip ergonomically formed handle
